

Hears McAdoo's Deposit Got Loan for Tennessee

Washington Financiers Criticize as Dangerous Alleged Placing of U. S. Funds in Return for Favors to States.

SENATOR LEA TELLS HOW SECRETARY AIDED HIM

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Information obtained here in the last few days has caused much curiosity as to the methods employed by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo in securing a loan of $1,400,000 for the State of Tennessee from the National Park Bank of New York. A report which has been circulated among Washington bankers and in the State of Tennessee has it that Mr. McAdoo deposited a large sum of Government money in the National Park Bank on the condition that that institution furnish the State of Tennessee the desired accommodation. Mr. McAdoo, it is reliably stated, was directly responsible for the floating of the Tennessee loan after the State had been unable to find a purchaser for the $1,400,000 of short term notes which it desired to issue in the month of September 24 Mr. McAdoo issued this statement:

Senator Lea of Tennessee informs me that the State of Tennessee has $1,400,000 of short term notes maturing October 1 and the State desires to renew or extend $1,400,000 of the notes; that a commission representing this State has been in New York for some time trying to effect this loan, but without success.

Calls It Preposterous.
It is preposterous that one of the great States of the Union should find it impossible to secure from the banks a comparatively small amount of money. Senator Lea informed me that he was going to New York last night for the purpose of joining the commission in its efforts to secure the needed loan.

If Senator Lea and his associates are unable to procure from banks in the city of New York or elsewhere a loan of $1,400,000 on reasonable terms the desired loan I will myself see if banks cannot be found to take up this loan for the State of Tennessee upon the first of October next upon reasonable terms and at a reasonable rate of interest.

The Tennessee commission did fail to secure the loan on terms which Mr. McAdoo regarded as reasonable and the Secretary lost no time in making good his promise to see to it that the banks of New York adopted a more favorable attitude toward Tennessee finances. On the day following Mr. McAdoo announced the success of his efforts in the following:

Senator Lea and Secretary Snodgrass of Tennessee returned from New York this morning and advised me further about the loan of $1,400,000 deposited to meet its obligations maturing October 1. I took the matter up with the National Park Bank of New York and am pleased to say that that bank agreed to make the desired loan to the State of Tennessee on terms which are, I understand, entirely satisfactory to the State.

Silent About "Means."
It was learned that the loan had been negotiated at 6 per cent. interest. Mr. McAdoo vouchsafed no information as to the means he had used in persuading the National Park Bank to furnish the loan after the State of Tennessee, unable, had been unable to consummate the transaction. Financiers here have been very curious to know the means used by Mr. McAdoo in this case, and the explanation that finds the greatest credence now is that the Secretary made a deposit of Government funds.

The first correspondent to-day submitted to the Secretary of the Treasury the question:

"Did the Treasury Department deposit

CADETS ON NEWPORT GET THRILLS OF WAR

Schoolship Pupils Have Most Exciting Trip in Vessel's
History.

The cadets on the New York training ship Newport, just in from exciting experiences in the European war zone, consider themselves the luckiest boys in the country. They are puffed up with pride over the adventures they have had and the things they have seen, and as one of the boys remarked yesterday, "I guess there's no hero in any book by Oliver Optic that has anything on us for excitement."

The Newport, which left here more than four months ago for a cruise along the southern shores of Europe, was in Marseilles when war was declared, visited Italy and northern Africa and gave the cadets a glimpse of the war fervor in Marseilles and the preparations for war in Italy. Then, too, there was the excitement of the German cruisers Goeben and Breslau being compelled to leave Italian ports; and in cruising in the Mediterranean the Newport was stopped frequently by British and French war vessels.

"We were in Marseilles the day war was declared," said B. Ackerman, executive officer, yesterday on board the ship, now tied to the pier at East River and Twenty-fourth street. "There were much excitement and rioting there. The crowds marched the streets singing 'The Marseillaise.' On several nights they gathered near the ship and demanded that our band play 'The Marseillaise' for them. We had to play it again and again."

In the course of the excitement the Americans who heard that the Newport was in port and knew that it was the only American ship there appealed to Capt. Briggs for aid. He promptly took them in, thinking to transport them to Italy, a neutral country, and there give them an opportunity to get passage home. When the ship reached Genoa, it was found that it was practically impossible to get passage for America.

The Americans who were accordingly brought to this country were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth M. Conant of Pawtucket, R. I. Mr. and Mrs. George H. Holmes of Providence, and Mrs. G. Oram King of Philadelphia, the Misses Catharine and Josephine Maroney of Pawtucket and Mrs. Madelon, Mrs. Dumont and Mrs. J. H. Rogers of New York.

The ship put in at Providence, where the refugees were landed. After a trip through the new Cape Cod Canal the ship turned her prow for New York, arriving here Friday. There are eighty-five cadets enrolled on the ship. Twenty-six of those will be graduated to-morrow and will receive their diplomas at the headquarters of Dr. John H. Finley, State Commissioner of Education. Some of the graduates already have received jobs in the merchant marine.

It was said that there are more than 150 applicants already for entrance to the school.

FIRE WORKS PLANT EXPLODES; THREE DIE

Jersey City Rocked by Concussion—Four Others Are Badly Injured.

SHOCK FELT FOR MILES

Three men were killed and four were severely injured at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning by an explosion in the magazine of the Detweiler & Street fireworks plant, at the Morris Canal and McAdoo avenue, on the Hackensack River, in the Greenville section of Jersey City.

The magazine was demolished and the detonation was felt for miles. Windows were shattered and pieces of the bodies of the killed were hurled for many feet. A trolley car was derailed and although passengers escaped unhurt, the building of the Griffin Iron Company, adjoining the plant, was made to sag outward by the force of the explosion.

The Dead.
PFEIFFER, CHRISTIAN, Bergen and Fulton avenues.
ZIMMERMAN, MAX, 33 Fisk avenue.
KIM, ARTHUR, same address.

The Injured.
WOLF, JOHN, 371 West Side avenue; condition critical.
HAYLAND, WILLIAM, 24 Linnet street, Bayonne.
SANDERS, PHILIP, 283 Danforth avenue, Jersey City.
DAVIS, JOHN, 127 Myrtle avenue, Jersey City.

The body of one of the dead only has been identified. There are parts of the other bodies in the morgue, but up to midnight none of the relatives had been able to identify them. In addition to the four persons taken to the hospital a score of other persons were attended by ambulance surgeons who responded to the calls sent to all the Jersey City hospitals.

How the explosion was caused is a mystery. The only persons in the building were killed. There was a report that a fourth man was in the building, but the police could find nothing to establish that as a fact. The plant comprised, besides the magazine, about a dozen small buildings in which various kinds of work involving the use of explosives was done. All there were shaken by the concussion. John Andrews, foreman of the plant, was arrested on a technical charge of manslaughter, which afterward was changed to criminal carelessness. He will be arraigned to-morrow.
